Notes

Kirk o' Muir is in St Ninians parish, East Stirlingshire. Most of the flat & table stones are very difficult, if not impossible, to read, on account of erosion.

Fest i 316 Kirk of Muir, afterwards Saughinford - Wm Darroch was reader in 1874 & David Dickson in 1874-80.

Ancient Monuments (see Notes) 1 160, no. 153, Graveyard Kirk o' Muir "On only two stones, both recumbent slabs, could inscriptions of before 1707 be read" (see 46 & 66 above, ..... however, inscriptions 18 & 29 above & part of 19 seem to be pre-1707)

Testaments (see Preface) - the area around Kirk o' Muir burial ground - roughly the Dundaff barony, etc. referred to on pre-page under Hearth Tax - in St Ninians parish seems to have included the following places - Clachary (Clackharie), Craignannet, Cringate (Crinzett), Dundaff, Randiefoord, Shieldhill, Sleckrystock and Slafrechar; perhaps also Bogside, Caruck (Kornochie), Glenhead and Blairlinchie should be included. The Stirling commissariat index has numerous references to people from this area, including about 17 Liddell, 16 Adam, and smaller numbers of Dick, Dickson, Din, Duncan, Ewing, Ker, Moddrell, Provand, Rae and Stevenson (Steinson). Evidently this area, which is mostly upland, was more densely populated in the 17th century than it is now. The following is only a selection from some of the above names

Adam, And, in Glenhead of Dundaff 1662;
 " And, in Starkerstock, parish Kirk of Muir 1677;
 " And, in Slachristock & w Janet Dine, parish Kirkamuir 1682;
 " And, portioner of Clacharie, parish St Ninians 1682;
